News Release

Madison County Recorder launches Free Search website.

(Madison County Recorder makes property information more accessible online.)

(September 21, 2012) – The Madison County Recorder’s office added capability to search property record information online for free! “We are always looking for ways to provide the most cost effective services for our customers. This gives our search companies, and citizens a way to check the accuracy of their property record information for free” said Angela Shelton.

The free search webpage link can be found on Madison County Recorder’s homepage entitled the “Free Data Only Search”. With just a property owner’s name can see all different types of property documents such as Deeds, Mortgages, liens, releases, satisfactions, and more. The Madison County recorder records documents that determine ownership to property.

“Our goal has been to provide several ways to search our records. This is an added enhancement to our services, and provide the public at large with what we do each day for free” said Angela Shelton. The website can be found online at the following website <http://www.madisoncounty.in.gov/Recorder.html>.
